4. Register of trade marks.

- (1) The Registrar shall maintain under his control and management for the purposes of this Act the Register wherein shall be entered all registered trade marks, certification marks and collective marks with the names and addresses of their proprietors, notifications of assignments and transmissions, disclaimers, conditions, limitations and such other matters relating to such trade marks as may from time to time be prescribed.
- (2) The Registrar shall publish in the Register a notice of the registration of any trade mark.
- (3) The Register shall contain all such particulars of any application for the registration of a trade mark as may be prescribed (including a representation of the mark) and such other information relating to the trade mark as the Registrar thinks fit.
- (4) There shall not be entered in the Register any notice of any trust expressed, implied or constructive, nor shall any such notice be receivable by the Registrar.
- (5) The Register shall at all convenient times be open to the inspection of the public, subject to such rules as may be prescribed; and certified copies, sealed with the seal of the office, of any entry in such register shall be given to any person requiring the same on payment of the prescribed fee.

5. Correction of Register.

- (1) The Registrar may, on request made in the prescribed manner by the registered proprietor or by some person entitled in law to act in his name —
 - (a) correct any error in the name or address of the registered proprietor of a trade mark;

6. Powers and duties of the Registrar in respect of forms.

- (1) The Registrar may require the use of such forms as he may direct for any purpose relating to the registration of a trade mark or any proceedings before him under this Act.
- (2) The Registrar shall make all forms available together with any directions with respect to their use.

PART III - REGISTRATION OF TRADE MARKS

7. Registrable trade marks.

- (1) A trade mark is registrable —
 - (a) only in respect of particular goods or services; and
 - (b) if it is distinctive.
- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1), a trade mark is “distinctive” if it is adapted to distinguish the goods or services of the proprietor of the trade mark from those of other persons.
- (3) In determining whether a trade mark is so adapted, the Registrar may, in the case of a trade mark in actual use, take into consideration the extent to which such use has rendered such trade mark in fact distinctive for the goods or services with respect to which it is registered or proposed to be registered.

8. Restriction on registration.

- (1) It shall not be lawful to register as a trade mark —
 - (a) any mark that is devoid of any distinctive character or is otherwise incapable of distinguishing the goods or services of one enterprise from those of other enterprises;

- (b) any matter, the use of which would —
 - (i) by reason of its being calculated to deceive in particular as regards the geographical origin of the goods or services concerned or their nature, quality or other characteristics; or
 - (ii) otherwise be disentitled to protection in a court of justice, or would be contrary to law or morality, or any scandalous design;
 - (c) any mark that consists exclusively of matter or an indication that may serve in trade to designate the kind, quality, quantity, intended purpose, value, geographical origin, time and production of goods or of rendering of service, or of other characteristics of goods or services;
 - (d) any mark that consist exclusively of matter and indication that has become customary in current language or in the bona fide established practices of the trade, or is a usual or recognised technical or scientific name of a product or service;
 - (e) any mark that is not distinct from the goods or services to which it applies, or consists of a feature or characteristic that results from the nature of the goods or services themselves;
 - (f) any mark that consist of, or contains as an element thereof, any national, territorial or civil flag, arms, crest or emblem, any official control or guarantee mark, stamp or hallmark, or any armorial bearing, flag or other emblem, abbreviation or title of any international intergovernmental organisation to which one or more convention countries belong, notice of objection to the use of which as a commercial device has been received from any person pursuant to the provisions of any international convention relating to industrial property to which The Bahamas adheres or is publicly given by the Registrar.
- (2) Except by order of the Court, a mark cannot be validly registered as a trade mark if the use of such mark would conflict with prior third party rights in force in The Bahamas, in particular where —
- (a) the mark is identical with or confusingly similar to an earlier registered trade mark or geographical indication belonging to a different proprietor, or to a trade mark which is already on the register, with respect to such goods or services or description of goods or services, or so nearly resembling such a trade mark as to be calculated to deceive;
 - (b) the mark constitutes a reproduction, imitation or translation of a trade mark or other distinctive mark that is well known in The

- Bahamas in respect of identical or similar goods or services of another enterprise, or is well known in The Bahamas for goods or services that are not identical or similar to those in respect of which registration is applied for, provided, in the latter case, that use of the trade mark or distinctive mark in relation to those goods or services would indicate a connection between the goods or services and the owner of the well known trade mark or distinctive mark, or that the reputation of the trade mark or distinctive mark or of the owner thereof would be damaged by such use, or such use without due cause would take unfair advantage of, dilute or otherwise be detrimental to, the distinctive character or the repute of the well known trade mark or distinctive mark;
- (c) the use of the mark in The Bahamas is liable to be prevented by virtue of —
 - (i) any rule of law, in particular, the law of passing off, protecting an unregistered mark, trade name, geographical indication or other mark used in the course of trade; or
 - (ii) an earlier intellectual property right, in particular the law of copyright or of industrial designs;
 - (d) the application for registration was made in bad faith or where registration of the mark would consolidate or facilitate an act of unfair competition provided that in determining whether a distinctive mark is well known it shall be sufficient that the mark be known within the relevant sector of the public in The Bahamas, including knowledge obtained as a result of the promotion of such mark.
- (3) The Minister may make regulations to further restrict the registration of trade marks.
 - (4) For the purpose of this Act, a trade-mark is deemed to be used in association with goods if, at the time of the transfer of the property in or possession of the goods, in the normal course of trade, it is marked on the goods themselves or on the covering of the goods in which they are distributed or it is in any other manner so associated with the goods that notice of the association is then given to the person to whom the property or possession is transferred.
 - (5) A trade-mark that is marked in The Bahamas on goods or on the covering of the goods, when the goods are exported from The Bahamas, is deemed to be used in The Bahamas in association with those goods.
 - (6) A trade mark is deemed to be used in association with services if it is used or displayed in the performance or advertising of those services.

9. Application for registration.

- (1) Any person claiming to be the proprietor of a trade mark who is desirous of registering the same must apply in writing to the Registrar in the prescribed manner.
- (2) The filing date of an application for registration shall be the date on which the application is received by the Registrar, provided that at the time of receipt, the application contains the following —
 - (a) an express indication that the registration of a mark is applied for;
 - (b) sufficient information to identify and contact the applicant or his representative;
 - (c) the mark for which registration is applied, or a reproduction thereof if the mark features special characters, shape or colour, or is a figurative or mixed mark; and
 - (d) a list specifying the goods or services for which the registration is sought;
 - (e) for greater certainty, if the materials furnished in this subsection (2) are furnished on different days, the date of filing is the last of these days.
- (3) If the application omits one of the elements indicated in subsection (2), the Registrar shall notify the applicant requesting that the omission be corrected and until the omission is corrected, the application shall be regarded as not filed.
- (4) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Registrar may refuse such application, or may accept it absolutely or subject to conditions, amendments or modifications.
- (5) In case of any such refusal or conditional acceptance the Registrar shall, if required by the applicant, state in writing the grounds of his decision and the materials used by him in arriving at the same, and such decision shall be subject to appeal to the Court at the option of the applicant.
- (6) An appeal under this section shall be made in the prescribed manner, and on such appeal the Court shall, if required, hear the applicant and the Registrar, and shall make an order determining whether, and subject to what conditions, amendments and modifications, if any, the application is to be accepted.
- (7) Appeals under this section shall be heard on the materials so stated by the Registrar to have been used by him in arriving at his decision, and no further grounds of objection to the acceptance of the application shall be allowed to be taken by the Registrar, other than those stated by him, except by leave of the Court hearing the appeal.

- (8) Where any further grounds of objection are taken the applicant shall be entitled to withdraw his application without payment of costs on giving notice as prescribed.
- (9) The Registrar or the Court, as the case may be, may at any time, whether before or after acceptance, correct any error in or in connection with the application, or may permit the applicant to amend his application upon such terms as may be thought fit.
- (10) Any person claiming to be the proprietor of a trade mark who makes an application for registration of a trade mark in respect of goods or services bearing such trade mark that were exhibited at an exhibition certified by the Registrar for the purposes of this subsection may choose to have the date for such application deemed to be the date of the opening of such exhibition if such application is made no later than six months after such goods were so exhibited.

10. Date of registration.

When an application for registration of a trade mark has been accepted and has not been opposed, and the time for notice of opposition has expired, or having been opposed, the opposition has been decided in favour of the applicant, the Registrar shall register the said trade mark, and the trade mark when registered, shall be registered as of the date of the application for registration, and such date shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to be the filing date of the application for registration.

11. Advertisement of application.

- (1) When an application for registration of a trade mark has been accepted, whether absolutely or subject to conditions, the Registrar shall, as soon as may be after such acceptance, cause the application as accepted to be advertised in the prescribed manner.
- (2) An advertisement made pursuant to subsection (1) shall set forth all conditions subject to which the application has been accepted.

12. Opposition to registration.

- (1) Any person may, within the prescribed time, from the date of the advertisement of an application for the registration of a trade mark or geographical indication, give notice to the Registrar of opposition to such registration.
- (2) Such notice shall be given in writing in the prescribed manner, and shall include a statement of the grounds of opposition.
- (3) The Registrar shall send a copy of such notice to the applicant, and, within the prescribed time after the receipt of such notice the applicant may send

- to the Registrar, in the prescribed manner, a counter statement of the grounds on which he relies for his application.
- (4) If the applicant sends such counter statement, the Registrar shall furnish a copy thereof to the persons giving notice of opposition, and shall, after hearing the parties, if so required, and considering any evidence filed in the prescribed manner, decide whether, and subject to what conditions, registration is to be permitted.
 - (5) The decision of the Registrar shall be subject to appeal to the Court.
 - (6) An appeal under this section shall be made in the prescribed manner, and on such appeal, the Court shall —
 - (a) if required, hear the parties and the Registrar; and
 - (b) make an order determining whether, and subject to what conditions, if any, registration is to be permitted.
 - (7) On the hearing of any such appeal any party may, either in the manner prescribed, or by special leave of the Court, bring forward further material for the consideration of the court.
 - (8) In proceedings under this section, no further grounds of objection to the registration of a trade mark shall be allowed to be taken by the opponent or the Registrar other than those stated by the opponent as herein above provided, except by leave of the court.
 - (9) Where any further grounds of objection are taken, the applicant shall be entitled to withdraw his application without payment of the costs of the opponent or giving notice as prescribed.
 - (10) In any appeal under this section, the Court may, after hearing the Registrar, permit the trade mark proposed to be registered to be modified in any manner not substantially affecting the identity of such trade mark, but in such case the trade mark as so modified shall be advertised in the prescribed manner before being registered.
 - (11) The Registrar shall have power in proceedings under this section to award to any party such costs as he may consider reasonable, and to direct how and by what parties they are to be paid.
 - (12) If a party giving notice of opposition or of appeal neither resides nor carries on business in The Bahamas, the Court may require such party to give security for costs of the proceedings before it relative to such opposition or appeal and, in default of such security being duly given, may treat the opposition or appeal as abandoned.

13. Rival claims to identical marks.

Where each of several persons claims to be proprietor of the same trade mark, or of nearly identical trade marks in respect of the same goods or services or description of goods or services, and seek to be registered as such proprietor, the Registrar may refuse to register any of them until their rights have been determined by the Court, or have been settled by agreement in a manner approved by the Registrar.

14. Defensive registration of well known trade marks.

(1) Where a trade mark has become so well known in association with any goods or services in respect of which it is registered and in relation to which it has been used that the use thereof in relation to other goods or services would be likely to be taken as indicating a connection in the course of trade between those goods or services and the person entitled to use the trade mark in relation to the first-mentioned goods or services, then, notwithstanding —

(a) that the proprietor registered in respect of the first-mentioned goods or services does not use or propose to use the trade mark in relation to those other goods or services; and

(b) anything in section 51,

the trade mark may, on the application in the prescribed manner of the proprietor registered in respect of the first mentioned goods or services, be registered to the same proprietor in respect of those other goods or services as a defensive trade mark and, while so registered, shall not be liable to be taken off the Register in respect of those goods or services under section 51.

(2) A trade mark registered in the name of the same proprietor —

(a) as a defensive trade mark;

(b) otherwise than as a defensive trade mark, shall, notwithstanding that the respective registrations are in respect of different goods or services, be deemed to be, and shall be registered as, associated trade marks.

(3) On application by any person aggrieved to the Court, or at the option of the applicant and subject to the provisions of section 61, to the Registrar, the registration of a trade mark as a defensive trade mark may be cancelled on grounds that —

(a) the requirements of subsection (1) are no longer satisfied in respect of any goods or services in respect of which the trade mark is registered in the name of the same proprietor otherwise than as a defensive trade mark; or

- (b) if there is no longer any likelihood that the use of the trade mark in relation to those goods or services would be taken as giving the indication mentioned in subsection (1).
- (4) The Registrar may at any time cancel the registration as a defensive trade mark of a trade mark for which there is no longer any registration in the name of the same proprietor otherwise than as a defensive trade mark.
- (5) Except as otherwise expressly provided in this section, the provisions of this Act shall apply in respect of the registration of trade marks as defensive trade marks.

15. Certification of registration.

On the registration of a trade mark, the Registrar shall issue to the applicant a certificate in the prescribed form of the registration of such trade mark under the hand of the Registrar and sealed with the seal of the office.

16. Non-completion of registration.

Where registration of a trade mark is not completed within twelve months from the date of the application by reason of default on the part of the applicant, the Registrar may, after giving notice of the non-completion to the applicant in writing in the prescribed manner, treat the application as abandoned unless it is completed within the time specified in that behalf in such notice.

17. Disclaimer of rights.

- (1) If a trade mark contains —
 - (a) parts not separately registered by a proprietor as trade marks; or
 - (b) matter common to the trade or otherwise of a non-distinctive character, the Registrar or the Court, in deciding whether such trade mark shall be entered or remain upon the Register, may require, as a condition of its being upon the Register, that the proprietor shall —

- (i) disclaim any right to the exclusive use of any part or parts of such trade marks, or of all or any portion of such matter, to the exclusive use of which they hold him not to be entitled; or
 - (ii) make such other disclaimer as they may consider necessary for the purpose of defining his rights under such registration.
- (2) No disclaimer upon the Register shall affect any rights of the proprietor of a trade mark except such as arise out of the registration of the trade mark in respect of which the disclaimer is made.

18. Duration of registration.

The registration of a trade mark shall be for a period of ten years, and may be renewed from time to time in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

19. Renewal of registration.

The Registrar shall, on application made by the registered proprietor of a trade mark in the prescribed manner and within the prescribed period and upon payment of the prescribed fee, renew the registration of such trade mark for a period of ten years from the expiration of the original registration or the last renewal of registration, as the case may be, which date is herein termed “the expiration of the last registration”.

20. Procedure on expiry of period of registration.

If registration is not renewed in accordance with section 19, the registration shall lapse subject to such conditions (if any) as to its restoration to the Register as may be prescribed.

21. Paris Convention and other International conventions relating to trade marks.

- (1) The provisions of the Paris Convention and any other international treaty in respect of trade marks, collective marks and certification marks to which The Bahamas is party shall apply to matters dealt with by this Act and, in case of conflict with the provisions of this Act, the provisions of the relevant treaty shall prevail.
- (2) More particularly and without limiting the generality of subsection (1), the provisions of the Paris Convention relating to —
 - (a) Article 6bis (Well-Known Marks);

- (3) Nothing in this section, shall entitle the proprietor of the trade mark to recover damages for any infringement occurring prior to the date of registration of his trade mark in The Bahamas.
- (4) An application for registration of a trade mark shall be made in the same manner as an ordinary application under this Act and shall be accompanied by a request for convention priority together with such declaration, as may be prescribed.

- (5) Where a person has applied for protection for any trade mark by application which —
 - (a) in accordance with the terms of a treaty subsisting between two or more convention countries, is equivalent to an application duly made in that convention country; or
 - (b) in accordance with the law of any convention country, is equivalent to an application duly made in that convention country,he shall be deemed for the purposes of this section to have applied in that convention country.
- (6) For the purposes of subsection (5), “person” includes a legal representative or assignee.

shall not be declared invalid if, in consequence of the use which has been made of it, it has after registration acquired a distinctive character in relation to the goods or services for which it is registered.

- (2) The registration of a trade mark may be declared invalid on the ground —
 - (a) that there is an earlier trade mark in relation to which the conditions set out in section 37, obtain; or

- (1) Where the proprietor of an earlier trade mark or other earlier right has acquiesced for a continuous period of five years in the use of a registered trade mark in The Bahamas, being aware of that use, there shall cease to be any entitlement on the basis of that earlier trade mark or other right —
 - (a) to apply for a declaration that the registration of the later trade mark is invalid; or unless the registration of the later trade mark was applied for in bad faith.

- (2) Where subsection (1) applies, the proprietor of the later trade mark is not entitled to oppose the use of the earlier trade mark, or as the case may be, the exploitation of the earlier right, notwithstanding that the earlier trade mark or right may no longer be invoked against his later trade mark.

54. Limitations and exceptions.

- (1) The rights conferred by registration under this Act shall have no effect in respect of—

- (2) Where reference is made in this Act to the Paris Convention, such reference shall include the Regulations and Administrative Instructions referred to under paragraph (1).
- (3) Where the provisions of this Act and the Regulations made thereunder conflict with those of the Paris Convention, the provisions of the Paris Convention shall prevail.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

This Bill seeks to repeal the Trade Mark Act, Chapter 322, and to modernize the law with respect to trade marks and provide more favourable provisions for the better protection and registration of trade marks in The Bahamas.

Clause 1 of this Bill provides for the short title and commencement date, which shall occur on such date as the Minister may by notice publish in the Gazette.

Clause 2 of this Bill expounds upon the interpretation provision contained in the repealed Act by providing for the definitions of additional key terms and references used throughout the Bill.

Clause 3 of this Bill provides for the functions of the Registrar who shall be responsible for matters relating to trade marks as provided under this Bill.

Clause 4 of this Bill provides for the Register of Trade Marks, which shall be maintained under the control and management of the Registrar. The Registrar shall be responsible for entering in the Register all registered trade marks, certification marks and collective marks with the names and addresses of their proprietors, notifications of assignments and transmissions, disclaimers, conditions, limitations and any such matters relating to trade marks.

The Register shall contain all particulars of any application for the registration of a trade mark and any other information as the Registrar deems necessary. However, any notice of a trust, whether expressed, implied or constructive, shall not be entered into the Register nor be received by the Registrar, and at all convenient times the Register shall be made available for public inspection. Persons wanting certified copies of information contained on the Register shall be entitled upon payment of the prescribed fee.

Clause 5 of this Bill provides for the manner in which a registered proprietor, or his lawful agent, may make a request to the Registrar to correct, change or cancel any entry of in the Register, or enter a disclaimer or memorandum relating to a trade mark. Such persons may appeal to the Court concerning any decision of the Registrar made pursuant to this clause.

Clause 6 of this Bill provides for the Registrar to provide forms and any necessary instructions with respect to their use for the purpose of registering a trade mark.

Part III of this Bill, which includes Clauses 7 to 21, contains provisions addressing issues related to the registration of trade marks.

Clause 7 of this Bill explains that a trade mark will only be registrable in respect of certain goods or services if the trade mark is distinctive. The use of the term “distinctive”, in this regard, means that the trade mark must be adapted to distinguish the goods and services of the proprietor from those of other persons.

Clause 8 of this Bill lists the restrictions on registering a trade mark. For example, it is unlawful to register a mark as a trade mark that is devoid of any distinctive character, or that is calculated to deceive the public.

Clause 9 of this Bill provides that a proprietor of a trade mark, who is desirous of having it registered, may make application in writing to the Registrar in the manner prescribed. Sub clause (2) of Clause 9 sets out the contents to be provided in each application.

Clauses 10 and 11 of this Bill provide, respectively, for the effective date of registration and advertisement of the application for registration of a trade mark in the prescribed manner.

Clause 12 of this Bill sets out the procedural steps to be taken by an individual seeking to oppose the registration of a trade mark and the appellate procedure should the opposing individual not accept the decision of the Registrar.

Clause 13 of this Bill provides for rival claims to identical marks. In such circumstances where several persons claim to be the proprietor of the same trade mark, the Registrar may refuse to register the mark until the individuals’ rights have been determined by the Court or settled by an agreement acceptable to the Registrar.

Clauses 14, 15 and 16 of this Bill provide, respectively, for the defensive registration of well-known trade marks, certification by the Registrar of registration of a trade mark and non-completion of registration of a trade mark within twelve months from the date of application by reason of default on the part of the applicant.

Clauses 17, 18, 19 and 20 of this Bill, respectively, provide for the disclaimer of rights in respect of the registration of a trade mark, the duration of registration of a trade mark for a period of ten years, the renewal thereof and the procedure on expiry of the period of registration.

Clause 21 of this Bill is a new provision, which explains The Bahamas’s obligations under the Paris Convention and other various international treaties and the implications of the provisions of this Bill with respect to same. The clause provides that the provisions of the Paris Convention and other international treaties concerning trade marks, of which The Bahamas is a signatory, shall apply to this Bill and in the event of conflict with this Bill the provisions of the relevant treaty shall prevail.

Part IV of this Bill, which includes clauses 22 to 26, provides mainly for the administrative functions of the Intellectual Property Office.

Clause 22 of this Bill provides for the hours of operation, which shall be normal business hours.

Clause 23 of this Bill provides for the Registrar to permit persons to inspect documents relating to the application for registration of a trade mark upon payment of a prescribed fee and subject to any prescribed restrictions.
